

WORK IN ROADS

Better Roads. Better Careers. Better Living.

Work IN Roads is a collaborative initiative between government agencies, associations and businesses aimed to support those who contribute to our state's infrastructure and to inform Hoosiers about the broad career paths available in the road construction industry. We support the pipeline by increasing awareness and connecting students to employers, ultimately providing better roads, better careers and a better living.

Now's the time to start thinking about a job in construction. The road construction industry has a wide variety of job opportunities, including everything from a field laborer to an accountant. Not only that, but these jobs provide great compensation as well.

The numbers don't lie...

These jobs are in high-demand.

In AGC's 2019 Hiring and Business Outlook Survey, 78% of firms in the U.S. reported difficulty filling salaried and hourly craft worker positions.

These jobs pay well.

Pay for construction industry employees in Indiana was $57,100 in 2017, 23% more than the state average for all private-sector employees.

These jobs are here to stay.

Gov. Eric Holcomb launched a five-year $4.7 billion road maintenance and construction plan in 2017. The Indiana Department of Transportation plans $810 million of work on our state's highways this year.

How do you know if a job in construction will be a good fit? Here are a few questions to ask:

- Are you passionate about contributing to society?
- Are you detail-oriented?
- Do you like working outdoors/with your hands?
- Do you like being a part of a team?
- Are you up for a flexible workday?
- Are you a problem solver?

To learn more, find additional resources or get connected with an industry professional, visit our site workinroads.org.